ELLA MAY BEAVERS
Durham, N. C.

Durham High School; Durham High School Club, Secretary-Treasurer (4); Glee Club.

Ella May has missed her calling we firmly believe. Dr. Cranford predicts old-maidship for her, and we wonder if such will be the case because she argues so cleverly. She never gives up if convinced, and holds that "a woman convinced against her will is of the same opinion still." It makes no difference what Ella May chooses for her life's calling. We know that she will find success because her friendly manner and absolute frankness are certain to bring results other than friends.

As Trinity Used to Be

(Editor's Note—These are extracts taken verbatim from the different publications of Trinity College for the year 1875-1876)

Time of Entering: The Session begins on Tuesday. All should be present on that day. Great damage is done by delay.

—Trinity Catalogue, 1875-'76

Location: Trinity is in the North-west corner of Randolph County, five miles from High Point on the North Carolina Railroad. The College hack runs to and from the College twice daily. We have all the facilities of the railroad without its annoyance.

Rule No. 4: No student is permitted to have in his possession at College any pistol, gun or other weapon, to play any game of chance, to drink any intoxicating liquors, or to use profane language.

Rule No. 6: No student may, under any circumstances, make an account at any store or shop without the permission of the President.

PROGRESS · 1962 ·

A FEELING of activity and rejuvenation has been in Duke's tobacco-scented air for several years, as thoughts and ideas have gradually emerged as tangible plans. Then progress suddenly became visible: ground was broken and buildings began to rise, brick on brick. Khaki-clad workmen were as numerous as khaki-clad undergraduates, and the noise of cement-mixers droned above the unmistakable sound of "Student Studying." Announced changes in policy affected both students and faculty, and new trends accompanied the freshness of attitude and outlook. "Progress" was the keynote of it all, a transition, a second generation for Duke University—and it is only a beginning.

In the life of any institution a complete changeover must periodically occur, when the outdated and useless give way to the modern and vigorous. The past year witnessed the birth of a new era for our comparatively young school; few facets of university life escaped examination and evaluation.

Last fall, the campus populace returned to find Myrtle Drive still faithfully linking the worlds of East and West, but in other respects the physical plant had been expanded and improved. A $2,000,000 Law School Building was under construction, the new Biological Sciences Building was nearing completion, and the Woman's College Infirmary was preparing for occupancy. An addition to the Medical Center had been constructed during the summer, and the Presyterian Student Center was almost finished. Connecting Duke and Erwin Roads was a new roadway, built to alleviate any traffic problems which might arise in connection with the new law building and the proposed units for married graduate students. One of the cafeterias on West Campus had been redecorated, emerging as the attractive University Room, and Aycock House was painted and refurbished.

If some plans had been realized, others were yet to be fulfilled. A $4,500,000 addition to the main library and a new Fine Arts Building will eventually grace the campuses. This is the largest building program undertaken by the University since West Campus opened thirty-two years ago.

Tiled walls brighten a zoology lab in the new Biology Building.

The Biological Sciences Building is prepared for spring semester occupancy.

FEMINIST
Thank You to all the courageous women & men who shared their VOICES with us this month.
...sault has impacted me. ...impacted two of my closest friends ...impacted my ... older ...too. I had to see the men who ..., who hurt my friends & ... get off because the woman ... had violated couldn't muster up ...strength to come forward within ...ttier... ...I don't know what I'd do.
I did this for my mom. And my aunts. And my sisters. And my friends. And my boyfriend. And my rapist. I did this for ME.
Statistical studies indicate that false reports make up only 2% or less of reported cases of sexual assault — approx. the same for other types of crimes. 1/10 reports are actually reported.
WE WILL NOT BE IGNORED ANYMORE
"I am finding that vulnerability gives me great STRENGTH because you're NOT HIDING anymore."
I'm not anybody's VICTIM.
Rape culture is using the word as a joke. Rape culture is treating women's bodies as objects. Rape culture is pushing your head down when you're dancing. Rape culture is groping you in a crowd. Rape culture is asking you what you were wearing. Rape culture is not talking about it, not saying anything.
When I told my mom that I was working on a sexual assault campaign she said, "It's just different being a girl..."
For the GOOD GUYS - set higher standards than just showing up; give credit where it's due (to those who have shared their stories and educated you about gender violence); recognize the space you ... and make room for ... (marginalized) voices
"Rape is the only crime in which the victim becomes the accused" ...a Adler
Sexual assault awareness month is coming to a close, but for me, this month was only the beginning. I am an active bystander, a supportive friend, and a female student who loves Duke-aware... is the first step to creating a campus that is healthy ... and makes us ...

MEN'S LACROSSE

Duke Men's Lacrosse entered the ACC Tournament with only three loses, and they walked away with the Championship title. Unfortunately, the team was defeated 15-9 at the Whitman's Sampler Mile High Classic, bowing to Denver in their last game of the regular season. However, their ten-game winning streak for the 2012 season is the second longest under Head Coach John Danowski.

The Chanticleer

Thank You

As always we would like to thank our adviser, Brian Crews, and our interim adviser for the year, Scott Wells, who filled in while Brian enjoyed fatherhood and really anytime Brian was our of the office. Without Brian and Scott, we would likely have had no equipment, funds, or a lovely new office. We would also like to thank the Office of Sports Information, for filling in the gaps we missed. And finally, we would like to thank Kim Trezona, our Jostens publishing rep; she is the driving force of much-needed continuity, perseverance, and accountability behind The Chanticleer each year.

We hope you enjoy this one-hundreth year of The Chanticleer, which carries the full weight of a rich and ever-growing Duke history.

Sincerely,
Kristin Oakley, Editor-in-Chief
